Cambodian Development Mission for Disability (CDMD), formerly called Rehabilitation for Blind Cambodians -Community Based Rehabilitation, started its activities in 1993 under the administration of Maryknoll, a Catholic NGO based in New York. In 2000, RBC was handover to Caritas NGO, meanwhile the Daughters of Charity, Thailand Province, joined Caritas to administer this program until end of 2006. Christoffel Blinden Mission, based in Bensheim, Germany, has been the primary funder of this program since the beginning until now and hopefully into the future.

RBC’s Community Based Rehabilitation program was localized under the name Cambodian Development Mission for Disability beginning in 2007, and officially recognized by Ministry of Interior referent to Lekhet N.1638.

CDMD has an excellent history of helping people with disabilities in Cambodia. CDMD has a clear organizational structure and developed procedures and policies to ensure the quality of CDMD management and help in implementation of the program. All staffs of CDMD are committed to maximizing the benefits for people with disabilities and other vulnerable people in CDMD’s catchments areas. They have exhibited both compassion and professionalism the fifteen years I have known them.

I have no hesitation in recommending CDMD to all people who wish to support the activities of this organization. The success of CDMD requires the support from many people. Your generosity is greatly appreciated and needed to assure this valuable service for the blind and disabled people of Cambodia.
